Q: HOW HAS A PARTNERSHIP WITH NYU LANGONE ELEVATED YOUR APPROACH TO SPINE CARE?

A: NYU Langone Manhattan is an internationally recognized facility for orthopedic excellence and just recently ranked by NewsWeek Magazine as #21 in the entire world for providing excellence in healthcare. Providing sophisticated solutions to complex spinal problems requires a team approach and our longstanding partnership with this facility gives us access to information, personnel and technology that drives our professional expertise to the highest level providing world class care to our clients and conveniently delivered at the local level.

Q: WHEN IT COMES TO SPINAL DISEASE WHY IS TEAM APPROACH IDEAL ?

A: Spine problems can be complex and challenging to resolve. Dr Husain specializes in treatments using oral and injectable pharmacologics, epidurals , nerve ablations, medical marijuana and other non-invasive treatments. On the other hand, Dr Quirno specializes in minimally invasive and reconstructive surgery for more advanced phases of disease and other conditions that are not able to be effectively treated using a non-surgical approach. The benefit of having both types of specialists working together means that the patient can be treated appropriately, comprehensively, conveniently and in the most efficient manner. The patient can see both specialists who are sharing information, communicating directly and working together to develop the best approach to problem resolution. A collaborative approach with each specialist bringing their own expertise is an ideal therapeutic environment.
